

Today Is E-For-Empty Day In Lansing; State Can't Meet Its Bills

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING, Mich.—(P)—This is "E"-Day in Michigan — "E" for empty, the condition of the state treasury.

The state is insolvent today in the sense that it can't meet its bills in time.

That's quite a condition for one of the richest industrial states in the nation. But it is a sad fact.

Not Bankrupt Yet

Actually, of course, state government will continue to function at least in the immediate future will continue to meet its debts. But the cushion is getting thinner all the time.

The state isn't irreparably bankrupt because next week more cash will trickle in to be applied late on payments due today and by the end of the month some $20,000,000 in sales tax collections will roll in.

That, and other sources of income, will accumulate against the next "E"-Day — May 15. But there will be other drains on the treasury in the interim and each time the treasury is just a little closer to the bottom.

How Come?

How did we, a really rich and prosperous state, get this way?

Well, the blunt truth is that, the people, decided we knew more about operating government than our experienced elected representatives.

We, the people, passed the 15-mill tax limitation to protect our homes against heavy real estate taxes. That put a straitjacket on local government so that it couldn't raise enough money to meet its operating costs as goods and salaries became more expensive.

In many, many communities we voted for and applauded local officials who held our property assessments far too low—lower than some of our neighboring communities. The result was a further

California Battered By Wind, Rain, Snow

SAN FRANCISCO — (P)—Rotary snowplows churned through five-foot snow depths today to free two busloads of stranded Marines, reported enroute south to Camp Pendleton from their Pickel Meadow winter training camp in eastern California.

Four other buses of Marines were bogged down by the 14-hour snow storm, but later reached towns. Marines in the buses, which normally carry 30 men, were reported to be equipped with arctic gear.

Braced For Gales

The unseasonable storm belted northern California and mountain areas yesterday and drove into the southern part of the state today.

Los Angeles and San Diego braced for roaring gales, heavy rain and snow by putting Civil Defense and Red Cross workers on the alert in both cities. From two to four inches of rain and snow down to the 3,000-foot level was predicted.

The state division of highways last night closed 45 miles of U.S. 99 because of snow and ice in the Tehachapi Mountains north of Los Angeles.

The Southern Pacific Railroad said four rotary snowplows were keeping its tracks clear across the 7,200-foot Donner Summit where the streamliner City of San Francisco was stuck for about a week last January. Western Pacific said

Truman Gives Off-The-Cuff Speech Today

(By The Associated Press)

The nation expectantly awaited President Truman's off-the-cuff speech today for a possible hint to his feelings about his upset by Sen. Estes Kefauver in last Tuesday's New Hampshire primary.

The president has remained mum since the lanky Tennessean won the popularity poll and all eight New Hampshire convention delegate votes in the two-way Democratic race.

Silent On Candidacy

Truman has not said whether he will seek re-election and the general belief was that he would not break his silence until later.

He speaks in New York (2:30 p. m. EST) before 3,000 high school editors attending a convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The subject: "Citizenship."

Elsewhere in the presidential battle:

Sen. Kefauver—

He accepted a dare of Gov. Fuller Warren to enter Florida's Democratic presidential preference primary. The Florida governor has been smarting under criticism of him and some of his friends by Kefauver's Senate crime investigating committee.

Sen. Robert A. Taft—

Taft supporters retained control of Louisiana's Republican state central committee over Eisenhower backers in a Baton Rouge meeting.

Taft forces predicted he would get "a right good majority" of the Package Truce Deal Offered To Reds In Korea

MUNSAN, Korea — (P)—U. N. negotiators today offered the Communists a compromise "package deal" to settle five secondary issues blocking agreement on how to police a Korean armistice. The Reds indicated they would buy only part of the package.

The "package deal" provided that the U. N. would accept the Red proposals on ports of entry and drop demands for reports on the location of major military units and a guarantee that each side refrain from concentrating troops to threaten the other side during a truce.

In return, the Reds would have to agree to ban the inspection of secret weapons and to include the word "Korea" in armistice clauses prohibiting naval blockades during an armistice.

Seven United Nations planes were lost during the week to ground fire and other causes.

In its regular weekly summary the Fifth Air Force said 15 MIG's were destroyed, one probably destroyed, and ten damaged. It said one American Sabre jet was lost in air combat, four Allied planes lost to Red ground fire, and three lost from unknown causes, probably mechanical failure. Some of the U. N. pilots were picked up and returned to Allied lines.

Overcast and scattered clouds blanketed most of North Korea Saturday. United Nations planes concentrated on the Red front lines.

Thirty-five of them allegedly were playing dice alongside a candle-decked altar.

The other was the owner, Anthony Piragnoli, 63, who, police said, got $25 a night for use of his chapel for gambling.

Plots said they killed 50 soldiers and knocked out 12 gun positions.

Senate May Invite Eisenhower To Talk On Foreign Aid Bill

By EDWIN B. HAWKINSON

WASHINGTON — (P)—Sen. McMahon (D-Conn) said today he expects the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to approve Monday his invitation to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to come back and testify on the foreign aid bill.

Other committee members, including Sen. Lodge (R-Mass), manager of the Eisenhower campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, and Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) told his reporter they would oppose McMahon's motion.

Might Be Embarrassing

"I would not do anything to embarrass the General politically or in his NATO Command,"

Sparckman said. Lodge had a different reason. He said Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, deputy and chief of staff to Eisenhower, could supply any and all answers for Congress on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization program and foreign aid.

Lodge avoided discussion of the obvious political angles of a return to this country by the General after his smashing New Hampshire Republican primary victory over Sen. Taft of Ohio.

But McMahon said he does not agree with other senators that a return here for testimony on foreign aid.

"Reconciliation."

Revenue Man Finnegan Convicted Of Taking Extra Money On Side

ST. LOUIS — (P)—Sentenced on James P. Finnegan, former Internal Revenue collector convicted early today of misconduct in office, will be pronounced March 24.

U. S. District Judge Rubey M. Hulen set the date after the 11 men and one woman found Finnegan guilty in Federal Court of taking money from two firms for representing them before government agencies.

Finnegan is the second former tax collector convicted of illegal acts while performing his federal duties.

Roosevelt Appointee

Denis W. Delaney, former Boston collector, received a two-year prison term and a fine of $10,500 Jan. 29 for bribery and mishandling of tax cases.

The jury freed Finnegan of three other counts—including two of bribery.

Finnegan, 51, personal friend of President Truman, took the decision quietly, but members of his family in the court room appeared stunned.

Finnegan was appointed to the $10,000-a-year post by the late President Roosevelt in 1944.

The counts under which Finnegan was found guilty involved acceptance of $5,000 from the Warwick Hotel Corporation for helping the firm in a claim against the Coast Guard for damage during World War II.

Marquette Deer Hunters Jailed

MARQUETTE, Mich.— (P)—Three Marquette deer hunters who took on two brothers last fall, injuring them critically, were handed 90-day jail terms and a severe tongue-lashing yesterday.

Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone criticized the Legislature for not providing a penalty "commensurate with the offense" in passing sentence on the hunters, Angelo Zoraz, 55, his son, Robert, 20, and James Meyers, 20.

Judge Jackson told the three he accepted their plea of guilty to reckless use of firearms last Nov. 28 only because there was no higher offense they could be prosecuted under.

The hunters fired seven times at four children who were playing near their home. Albert Monhead, 13, and his brother, James, 5, were critically hurt. Their brothers Ernest, 12, and Robert, 8, escaped.

The Bayfield and its 360 crewmen are in strict quarantine here. The Japan-bound transport, which was carrying no troops, was directed to dock at Honolulu after radioing that several men apparently had diphtheria.

All members of the crew were inoculated late Wednesday after an Air Force plane parachuted anti-toxin to the ship at sea.

Wife Beaten By $131,000 Robber

BUTLER, Pa.—(P)—A gray Cadillac auto seen speeding from the scene is the only clue police have in a search for three bandits who took $131,000 from a wealthy coal mine operator's home after beating his wife.

The armed trio gained entrance to the home of Craig Saul, owner of the Eagal Coal Company, on the pretext of delivering a package yesterday. Then they quickly seized Saul's 40-year old wife when she opened the door.

"One of them threw me into a chair," Mrs. Saul said. She was in the expensively furnished home with her daughter, Joan, 2½, and twin sons, Richard and Ronnie, 4.

"The children went with me when they dragged me upstairs," Mrs. Saul related. "They even threw toys and kicked at one of the men."

"I was afraid I might get shot. I tried to break away twice and the man guarding me hit me on the head with his gun."

Saul, 42, said the fortune — kept in a safe — represents "20 years accumulation of hard work."

The mine owner said the bandits missed one packet in the safe that contained $26,000. Police said it fell into the debris when the safe was opened.

Bribe Charges To Be Studied By Fair Board

DETROIT — (P)—The Michigan State Fair Board will meet in Detroit next Thursday to discuss a grand jury recommendation for the removal of James D. Friel, fair manager.

Stanley Powell of Ionia, acting president of the board, said next week's meeting is a regular board session but added that the Friel matter "undoubtedly" will be discussed.

Removal Recommended

Circuit Judge Chester P. O'Hara, one-man grand jury investigating management of the fair recommended Friel's removal, accusing him of misfeasance, malfeasance and willful neglect of duty.

The grand jury's findings, under the law, constitute the first step in removal proceedings. A hearing by the fair board and any reply Friel may make are the next steps.

Immediately following issuance of the "findings" yesterday, Judge O'Hara said the circuit bench extended the life of his grand jury another six months, thus continuing it through the next fair, Sept. 28.

One Case Cited

The grand jury report made one definite charge of bribe-taking by Friel. It said that on Sept. 11, 1950, he "did on the State Fair grounds corruptly accept a bribe of $750 from Harry Bernstein, alias Al Wagner, owner of the Cavalcade of Amusements, on the false representation that it would be used for Democratic campaign purposes."

Friel, former county auditor, has been in high Democratic circles for years. He was appointed to the $9,000 job with the fair May 7, 1949, by the board at the invitation of Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

John L. Lovett Dies In Detroit

DETROIT — (P)—John L. Lovett, 64, who headed the Michigan Manufacturers Association for more than 30 years, died at his home early today. He had suffered a heart attack Tuesday.

Sometimes termed Michigan's No. 1 lobbyist, Lovett represented the interests of businessmen in the state Legislature, where he was a familiar figure.

A native of Wellsville, Kan., he graduated from the University of Kansas in 1910 when he joined the Kansas City Star as a reporter, then assistant city editor.

In 1912 he went to the Chicago Tribune as a reporter and in 1915 became editor of the Manufacturers News and assistant secretary to the Illinois Manufacturers Association.

He came to Michigan in 1919 and took the post of general manager of the Michigan Manufacturers Association. He held that job until his death.

Schoolcraft Plant Destroyed By Fire

SCHOOLCRAFT, Mich.—(P)—A $200,000 fire swept the Industrial Foundries Manufacturing Co. plant in this Kalamazoo county community last night.

M. K. Gibson, the owner, estimated damage to the building at $100,000 and added that more than $100,000 in patterns was destroyed.

City's Taxable Property Value Is $13,656,954

The value of property in Escanaba on 1952 assessment rolls today stands at $13,656,954, an increase of $319,970 since last year, it was reported today by Charles Schmidt, city assessor.

Compilation of the real and personal property valuations has been completed following meetings of the Escanaba board of review.

The overall increase in taxable real property was caused by new construction or improvements that overbalanced the depreciation on other properties. While some buildings have been razed and removed from the tax rolls, new construction has been considerable in the past year.

The upward trend in valuations, although slight, indicates stability in the local economy. The growth in values has been steady for nearly a decade.

The taxable valuations, real and personal, for 1951 and 1952 are as follows:

1951	1952
Real
Property	$10,510,404
Personal	$10,666,004
Property	2,826,580
Personal	2,990,950

Totals $13,336,984 $13,656,954

According to records in the office of the city assessor, the total assessed valuation in Escanaba has increased from $9,222,515 in 1945—or $4,434,439 in the past seven years.

Youth Is Dead Of Auto Fumes

Auto exhaust fumes this morning caused the death in Escanaba of Ernest Valiquette Jr., 22, whose body was found in his parked car in the 1400 block on Second Avenue north, with the motor still running.

Valiquette was pronounced dead in St. Francis hospital by Dr. Thomas McInerney, coroner.

Police were called to the Valiquette car at 6 a.m. by a resident of the block who reported the motor of the parked car had been running since 4:30 a.m.

The officers found Valiquette slumped over the wheel and the interior of the car filled with exhaust fumes. They summoned an ambulance and the young man was taken to the hospital.

Authorities and members of the family reported that Valiquette for the past two weeks had been working in Sturgeon Bay, Wis., shipyards, and returned to Escanaba yesterday. He was planning to sail on the lakes this coming season.

After taking a girl companion home Valiquette is believed to have started his car and been overcome while waiting for the motor to warm up. Members of the family said the youth had tried yesterday to repair a faulty muffler.

Ernest Valiquette was born in Escanaba July 25, 1929, and had lived here most of his life. He was employed for six years with the independent Roofing company.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Valiquette of Escanaba; the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Daniel Weissert of Escanaba Rt. 1, Janet and Roger Escanaba, and Beverly of Escanaba Rt. 1; and his grandparents, Mrs. Elsie Collette of Escanaba and Ed Collette of Green Bay.

He was a member of St. Anne's church.

The body is at the Allo Funeral home where friends may call beginning at 10 a.m. Sunday. Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Monday in St. Anne's Chapel. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest cemetery.

Lake Sailors Win Officers' Licenses

Great Lakes sailors George J. Stoff of Escanaba and William Cyr, Route One, Escanaba, were recently awarded new licenses qualifying them for officers' berths on ore carriers, according to word received from the Lake Carriers' Association of Cleveland, Ohio.

Stoff's license in engineering rates an appointment as Third Assistant Engineer. St. Cyr's third class pilot's license qualifies for appointment as Third Mate. The men were recently successful in passing the Coast Guard examination which was required for the advancement and led to awarding of the license.

ESCANABA'S ROLE IN THE NATION'S AIR DEFENSE is explained by Capt. George Soik, USAF, of the Green Bay Filter Center at last night's meeting of the community ground observers corps. Dots on the map represent the several observation posts to be maintained in the Upper Peninsula under the civil air defense program. Looking on are Hagle Quarstrom, Delta county director of civil defense and Paul A. Wohlen of Escanaba, coordinator of civilian defense for the Upper Peninsula.

Aircraft Observers To Be Tested Today

After an instruction meeting of the ground observer corps in this area last night, a test of aircraft observation posts will be made this afternoon when planes dispatched by the Green Bay Filter Center fly into this vicinity in the first of several alerts planned in the Upper Peninsula civil defense program.

Attending last night's meeting were, in addition to the above officers:

Observers Attend

Flat Rock observation post: Fred Marenge, supervisor; and Observers Mose Theoret, George Rapette, Archie Dubord, Marc Haglund, Hector Beauchamp, Roy Nadon and Wilfred Richer.

Gladstone post: William Girard, chief observer, and Observers Torval Kallerson, Vera Ohman and Carl Johnson.

Hyde post: Frank Blake, supervisor; and Ina Blake, observer.

Ford River post: Eugene Beaudoen, supervisor.

Escanaba post: Nels Bergeron, supervisor.

Captain Soik announced that another meeting of the Delta county ground observers is planned in Escanaba in June.

Hospital

Pointing out that the Midwest is the area in closest range of Russian planes flying a polar route on a bombing mission to this country, Captain Soik declared that "You in the Upper Peninsula would see more Russian aircraft than any other persons in the United States."

For that reason, he warned, ground observers in the Upper Peninsula are vital to the air defense of such strategic Midwest cities as Chicago, Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie and Cleveland.

In establishing observation posts in this area, he advised post supervisors to select a site with a high point of visibility, preferably one where telephone service is readily available.

Mattson received a shoulder wound from a machine gun bullet July 28 and part of his right hand was shot away and he suffered a shrapnel wound in the left side in the battle of Heartbreak Ridge October 4. He was evacuated to a hospital ship in Pusan Harbor by helicopter and later taken to the Navy Hospital in Osaka, Japan.

From there he was taken on a stretcher by plane to a hospital in California, and later to Camp Chaffee. He was home on leave in January.

Shakeup Of Revenue Bureau Is Essential For U. S. Government

An important achievement has been made by the Hoover Commission and its Citizens Committee in congressional approval of the revision of the Internal Revenue Department.

The developments in the Internal Revenue Department within the past year show how essential it is to clean house and to remove the political hangers-on who are chiseling favors and frauds at the expense of honest taxpayers. Some congressmen were extremely reluctant, of course, to lose the patronage powers that the old system provided but the bad odor of shakedowns and bribery made a general shakeup imperative.

The reorganization legislation abolishes the positions of Collector of Internal Revenue, a political job, and puts these offices under civil service. The change in itself will not guarantee honesty in the Tax Bureau but at least it will tend to attract people who are interested in these jobs as a career rather than political hacks who lack ability and the character that these responsible positions require.

The scandal - ridden Internal Revenue Bureau needs drastic revision. The taxpayers who are being bled white by a staggering tax load and who are sacrificing to pay their obligations cannot be blamed for their attitude of disgust in the knowledge that chiselers and bribees are getting off lightly because of their sinister connections with political grafters. If this thing continued much longer, the inevitable result would be a general taxpayers' strike.

It has been said that congressional approval for the revision of the bureau represents a big victory for President Truman. Actually, it is not a victory at all in the true meaning of the word. The political crooks whose shenanigans have made revision of the law necessary are, in the main, Mr. Truman's appointees. Credit goes to the President only because he was willing to accept the recommendations of the study committee as the only way out of a terrible mess.

Road Improvements On M-35 Promised

A promise by Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler for improvement of the Highway 35 from Ford River south to the Bark River bridge by the summer of 1953 offers encouragement to local residents who have long sought an all-paved highway to Menominee along the shore route.

Grading and drainage structures will be completed this fall, Ziegler promised a Delta County Road Commission delegation, and hard surfacing is scheduled for the following summer.

The long range objective, a hard surfaced highway all the way between Escanaba and Menominee on M-35, probably will not be achieved for some years but steady progress is being made to that end.

The US-41 route to Menominee, paved with concrete the entire distance, is a good road but it is longer by about 10 miles than the lake shore route on M-35. Also many people regard the M-35 route as more scenic, because of the lake and the forest areas through which M-35 travels. A major objection to the present M-35 road are sharp curves, particularly near Cedar River. Travelers looking for beautiful scenery take the lake shore road to Menominee but where time is important, the US-41 road offers more safety.

It is encouraging to note also, the state's interest in improving the highway between Escanaba and Gladstone, the most widely traveled section of highway in the entire Upper Peninsula.

"Tails I Win And Heads You Lose"

EVERYONE, right down to those in the low income brackets, feels the tremendous burden of present-day taxation. Everyone kicks about it. But there is one phase of the tax problem which is given much less consideration than it deserves—and that is what it is doing to the whole financial structure of the nation.

Economic Intelligence, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, dealt with this when it said, "Steeply progressive taxation has virtually dried up the sources of venture capital, so essential for launching new enterprises. It has become more and more difficult, therefore, for the exceptional man, the ambitious employee, the man with a new idea, to set himself up in his own business. And such activities have been the traditional well-spring of our American way of life."

Taxes now take close to one-third of the entire national income—which means that, on the average, each of us works one day out of three for the government. In the higher income brackets, taxes take the majority of the income. Thus, if a man takes a chance, risks his time and money and energy, and succeeds, as much as 90 per cent of all he earns may go to government. If he fails, he must bear the loss himself. It is strictly a "tails I win, heads you lose" proposition. Nothing is more damaging to ambition, incentive, progress.

A nation can destroy itself from within—and no weapon is more powerful than excessive taxation, along with flagrant waste and corruption in government. This is the dark road we have been traveling.

Spiritual Father and Son

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Paul the Apostle had many intimate friends and associates in the fellowship of the Christian life, and in the churches that he established. This is made plain in many passages and references in the Book of the Acts, and in the Pauline Epistles.

But the closest and most intimate of all these relationships was that with the young man, Timothy, whom he called his son, and to whom he addressed two notable Epistles.

Timothy, of course, was not Paul's son in a family sense. So far as we know Paul was unmarried (See 1 Corinthians 9:5), but it is a matter of conjecture whether he was a bachelor or a widower. What seems certain is that he had no child of his own.

But a flesh-and-blood relationship could hardly have made Timothy Paul's son more in sentiment and effect than he actually was. So far as one can see the deep attachment on Paul's part, that of a lone man for one upon whom he could bestow his affection, was reciprocated by Timothy, a response that is not always forthcoming from youth to old or middle age.

Apparently Timothy never failed him, as Paul believed young John Mark had failed, in the incident leading to the sharp contention between Paul and Barnabas (Acts 15:38, 39).

It is to be noted, however, not only that John Mark made good, as the Mark who wrote our second Gospel, but also that he

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Today millions of harassed, last-minute taxpayers are still up to their elbows in the arithmetic of income taxes. No matter how they slice the figures, however, the result will be the same. Higher taxes and lower rebates.

What the taxpayers don't realize, however, is that most of them probably would not have to pay a penny more than last year—if Congress had closed the unfair loopholes in the tax laws.

Today an estimated five billion dollars filter through these loopholes, which must be made up by taxpayers earning less than $10,000 annually.

In fact, nearly every major tax bill during the Truman administration has raised taxes on the lower brackets, while granting tax loopholes to the upper brackets. Result is that the tax laws are buckshot-ridged with escape clauses benefitting the higher brackets.

This has been the work largely of the Senate Finance Committee which is dominated by millionaire senators who benefit from their own loopholes. Such senators as Byrd of Virginia, Kerr of Oklahoma, Millikin of Colorado, Taft of Ohio and Martin of Pennsylvania, all of them millionaires, are chiefly responsible for the tax loopholes. The House Ways and Means Committee has labored to close many of them—but the Senate Finance Committee has been too powerful.

The Finance Committee has camouflaged these loopholes behind such technical, legal language that the average senator, harassed with other legislation, usually can't understand them and must take the finance committee's word.

For example, 79 of the most clause-riden, technically worded sections of the 1951 tax bill turned out to be honeycombed with loopholes. These escape hatches for the big taxpayers would never have been discovered if it hadn't been for a few patriotic experts at the Treasury Department, who risked their jobs to tip off Senators Humphrey of Minnesota and Douglas of Illinois what the Senate Finance Committee was up to.

PROFITS FROM DEFENSE

Humphrey and Douglas then blocked an attempt to ram the tax loopholes through the Senate without debate, but, in the end, the powerful finance committee brought enough pressure on individual senators to save most of the loopholes. They figured the debate was too technical for the public to understand, and that the small taxpayers would never know the difference.

The result was a tax law that stuck the low-income people with the mounting cost of defense, while a good many of the big-money boys could reap the profits of defense.

The most gaping loopholes now in the law allow the big oil and mining companies to deduct millions for depletion; grant a cheaper tax rate to the big speculators who trade in stocks and bonds; enable big businessmen to spread their income through family partnerships; and exempt interest and dividends from withholding tax.

The ex-cess profits tax is also shot full of holes: corporations get tremendous tax handouts through five-year amortization; so-called "collapsible" corporations are still legal to avoid taxes; life insurance companies pay only a token tax; and huge foundations can be set up to get around the estate and gift taxes. Even Attorney General McGrath has long been a trustee of a non-tax-paying foundation—Textron.

TRUMAN'S EGO

What worries some of the elder statesmen in the Democratic party is that if Kefauver victory in New Hampshire will get the President's dander up, make him determined to run again.

When he left for Key West, Mr. Truman, according to close friends, was definitely in a frame of mind not to run. Chief Justice Fred Vinson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, two of the most patriotic and potent figures in the Democratic party, had dropped hints at the White House that if the President did run it would jeopardize his courageous policies in the field of foreign affairs and split the Democratic party wide open.

Taking a contrary view have been the palace guard, the men immediately around the President, who, for reasons of self-preservation, want him to run and who bring to his desk every little news item that might disrupt his relations with Senator Kefauver.

When Kefauver first went to the White House to tell the President about his plans, Mr. Truman was more than cordial. He spoke about the need of bringing younger Democratic leaders to the front, even advised Kefauver on how to handle his campaign.

The biggest noise in the business world usually is smart enough to keep quiet about it.

Invest your hoarded money in government bonds, advises a banker. From socks to bonds.

Indians Tackle Sanitation And Change Ancient Social Customs

By HOWARD DE WALD
NEA Special Correspondent

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(NEA)—The Indian medicine men better brace themselves. Their centuries-old customs are about to collide with eager young tribesmen full of new ideas.

A dozen Indians from ten great tribes are being trained here to begin the first full-scale sanitation program ever undertaken on U.S. Indian reservations. They're out to lick the bad sanitation that makes the life expectancy of an Indian in Arizona, for example, only 23 years.

The U. S. Indian Service has been appalled for years by this high mortality rate on the reservations. Limited attempts by Indian Service men to correct bad sanitation have always been blacked by Indian customs and their ancient habits of living.

The ratio of Indian deaths to white men is 12 to 1 from typhoid, 6 to 1 from tuberculosis, 5 to 1 from diarrhea, and 4 to 1 from pneumonia. Most of those diseases on the reservations can be traced directly to bad sanitation, says Dr. L. J. Lull, an Indian Service medical director.

The students in the eight-week sanitation course have been hand-picked by tribal councils of the Cheyenne of North Dakota, Chippewa of Minnesota, Sioux of South Dakota, United Pueblo of New Mexico, Blackfeet of Montana, Navajo of New Mexico and Arizona, and Apache, Hopi, Papago and Pima, all of Arizona.

They will return to the homelands of the greater part of America's 400,000 reservation-dwelling Indians to preach the gospel of scientific sanitation.

So conscientiously did the tribal councils attempt to select men of high character for training that one tribe did not send a student to the school. The council told the Indian Service it interviewed 16 young men and found "none could be trusted about drinking."

The students know their jobs won't be easy. They'll have to convince the elder tribesmen of the necessity of constructing sand filters for water supplies, simple sewage disposal systems, sanitary privies, sanitary wells, and the need for sanitary food handling practices.

FLIES IN THE OINTMENT for flies that spread disease in and around Indian reservations are these young Indian sanitation students. They're checking fly larvae near Phoenix, Ariz.

They will have to take long trips from the desert to the mountains and from the villages to the lonely outposts, in schools, and at tribal meetings. They'll have to cajole their fellow tribesmen into changing the habits of centuries.

The class spends days on some of the field trips, like one to the Pima Indian reservation on the desert near Sells, Ariz., where they studied well sanitation. The students were amused to find the well they were working on had been dry for years.

The young Indians feel they'll get co-operation on the reservations. Their biggest difficulty, they say, will be translating the white man's sanitation terms into Indian language.

God's Living Letters

By Kirby Page

The bravest man ever to live on earth—who was he? Many nominations for this distinction have been made. High on the list should be placed the name of Father Damien, the Belgian priest who gave his life as missionary to lepers on Molokai, one of the Hawaiian Islands.

Leprosy is an ancient and terrible scourge. The Egyptians called it "death before death." It has appeared in all centuries and on all continents. I have seen its victims in China, the Philippines and India. It literally eats away one part of the body after another and produces excruciating pain.

Leprosy was first noticed in the Hawaiian Islands in 1853. It spread rapidly and, in a desperate effort to check its ravages, the policy of segregating the lepers was adopted. The island of Molokai was selected for the leper colony.

In 1873 Father Damien arrived. He came with the knowledge that he was accepting a life sentence to service among these afflicted people. Leprosy is a contagious disease. He would never be allowed to dwell elsewhere, and at that time he was only thirty-three years of age.

Conditions were indescribably awful. The lepers numbered eight hundred and were in varying stages of decomposition. Some had lost a hand, some a foot, some had a deep pocket in the face in place of a nose. Sanitary conditions were deplorable. The stench rose to high heaven. Food was inadequate. Hopelessness and despair prevailed.

For twelve years Father Damien lived among these people as a minister of mercy. Then at an early Mass he spoke of "We lepers." He continued his work of compassion until his death in 1889, at the age of forty-nine. In the long annals of bravery, where would you find a more courageous soul than this man of God?

So They Say

In all places in the document where "freedom" is mentioned, they (the Communists) want to change it to "convenience." Perhaps freedom to them means an effort to tread on their sovereign rights.—Col. Don Darrow, UN delegate to true talks.

I certainly do not think the Chinese and North Korean ground and air forces have a capability of driving us from Korea—far from it.—Lt.-Gen. Frank Everest, commander, 5th U. S. air force.

True telescope words are formed, as the name implies, by combining the first part of one word with the last of another. The Pittsburgh coinage, "smog," from smoke and fog, is an excellent example.

Lew Carroll, who coined a number of such words, called them "portmanteau words" in "Through the Looking Glass." "Slithy" from "lithy and slimy," and "mimsy" from "flimsy and miserable," are examples.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE AWAKENING — The breath of spring is beginning to blow across the Northern Michigan countryside, unlocking ice-bound streams, restoring life and movement to many hibernating wild creatures beneath the fading snow.

A friend of mine who drives often between Escanaba and Manistique, tells me that he observed a woodchuck sitting on the sunny side of the road. The chub is out again after a long winter's sleep.

Actually the woodchuck has been more than asleep, says Roger Norden, Marquette, of the conservation department's education division.

For as cold weather sets in the fat little animal withdraws to his underground burrow. His breathing slows, his body temperature drops. He breathes so slowly, in fact, that if his burrow filled with water it would be an hour before he would drown, Norden reported.

THEY ESCAPE—Hibernation is the winter's sleep that permits some animals to escape from the unpleasant rigors of winter.

Because they are unable to fly south with the birds, animals such as the woodchuck, bear, chipmunk and even the snake and frog do the next best thing—endure the winter cold by sleeping or drowsing for a few months.

What In The World?

By L. EARLE DAVIDSON

BERLIN. Germany — "The world is in need of key leadership," Mayor Ernst Reuter, of Berlin, told 50 American newspaper editors during a press conference here. As for Germany, the internationally famous mayor said his country wanted to become a member of the family of free nations and to reunite East and West Germany under a democratic government.

Reuter answered all questions put to him by the editors in English. Only once or twice did he seek the advice of his interpreter in phrasing his answers correctly. The Berlin mayor is one of the most impressive public figures we have met on our tour to date. He is a big man, in his late sixties, with graying hair and a solidness about his makeup that lends strength to his determination to keep this outpost of freedom out of communistic hands.

Politically the Berlin mayor is a Socialist, which he interprets as being for the personal freedom of the individual. There was a time, way back in Reuter's early career when he knew Lenin and Stalin, well. Later, he says, he learned that the Soviet government was not socialist, but a dictatorship. During his long fight against both the Soviet and Nazi dictatorships he has been imprisoned by the Russians and put in concentration camp under Hitler.

We met Mayor Reuter in the bullet-scarred meeting hall which now serves as the city hall for the three western sectors. While we talked with him the Freedom Bell, which was presented to the city by Gen. Lucius Clay, former high commissioner during the days of the world-famous Berlin Airlift, tolled as it does every day at noon. In addition to being heard throughout Berlin, the tolls of the bell are broadcast each day over the radio to all of Europe.

The Freedom Bell is a replica of the Liberty Bell and, when it was presented to the city several months ago by General Clay during a ceremony on the steps of the city hall, Mayor Reuter said, "We will stand here for liberty, no matter what may happen."

Mayor Reuter Does Not see the possibility of war in the very near future.

"The Soviets are very eager to avoid a hot war," he told us. "I cannot see any immediate danger of aggression from the East." He went on to say that inasmuch as the Soviet preferred to pursue a policy of cold war, it is necessary that the free world also pursue such policy.

"Tell your countrymen that we Berliners are fully aware of everything you have done for us, and that we are grateful," the mayor said. "Our city is standing so firm that no aggression can come from the East."

The mayor then declared that a common policy not only to defend Berlin, but to rebuild Berlin would be very helpful and very useful.

When asked to give his opinion on how the cold war could best be carried on, Mayor Reuter said that he believed time was on our side.

WAR NOT UNLIKELY — Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright of San Antonio, Texas, the man who stayed behind ten years ago when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was ordered to forsake Corregidor, thinks Universal Military Training is "vital" to the defense of America. The 68-year-old veteran of Bataan said, "We may be called upon to fight a great big war any time," and added, "war with Russia is not unlikely." (NEA Telephoto)

"The German people must be united in their will to be reunited," he declared. "We cannot run away. We must stand. Germany must become united with the whole free world to form a strong bloc against the past. With strong leadership such a bloc can win the cold war and insure freedom for those who desire it."

One of the editors said that in America there were some people who feared that the rearming of Germany might ultimately lead to another war because of the militaristic tendencies of the past and asked the mayor to comment on that point.

"In the first place, please remember that Germany knows full well that she was beaten in the second World War. There is no doubt about it. After World War I, her leaders tried to tell her that she was merely betrayed, but this time she knows she was beaten.

"And she knows why she was beaten. Dictatorship no longer has any appeal for her. As for communism, in the last elections—in 1950—the vote in the various districts of West Germany wavered from five to eight or nine percent communistic. And this in spite of better than 90 percent participation in the election.

"Now please remember that, immediately after the war, you told Germany that she could never be permitted to arm again. Now suddenly you are asking us to re-arm. You can't change people's minds like you turn on and off hot and cold water. That's why Germany has been reluctant to re-arm.

A great people like Germany there is always danger. But if you will unite Germany with the rest of the free world her great energy will be directed where it will do the most good for humanity."

Oscar Derby Tossup For Next Thursday

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—The movie world's biggest party—the academy awards—arrives with a hoopla of searchlights and ermine next Thursday night. For the first time in years, it's anyone's guess as to the winners.

Usually the Oscar derby can be predicted with a degree of accuracy.

This year the Hollywood oracles have been fumbling for predictions, and no one can seem to agree on the probable victors. After sampling industry opinion, I discovered this is how the race shapes up:

Leigh Has Edge

Best actress' performance — Vivien Leigh ("A Streetcar Named Desire") appears to have a slight advantage. Closely following her is Shelley Winters ("A Place in the Sun"). Eleanor Parker ("Detective Story") has a good dark horse chance. Less likely winners are Katharine Hepburn ("The African Queen") and Jane Wyman ("The Blue Veil"). Best actor's performance—this is a toughie. It could be any of four—Marlon Brando ("Streetcar"), Arthur Kennedy ("Bright Victory"), Frederic March ("Death of a Salesman") or Humphrey Bogart ("The African Queen"). Not so promising is Montgomery Clift ("A Place in the Sun"). I'll take a flier and predict Bogart.

Best picture—"A Place in the Sun" appears the first choice, although "Streetcar" may ace in and sweep many categories. Not much chance for "Quo Vadis," "Decision Before Dawn" or "An American in Paris."

Seats $6 to $12

Here's a rundown on the Thursday night event:

1. Where is it held?

A. At the Pantages theater, near Hollywood and Vine. Academy members, press and a small segment of the public will fill the 2,812 seats, which cost from $6 to $12.

Q. Will it be broadcast?

A. Yes, on the ABC radio network. But not on television. Most studio stars can't appear on TV.

Q. What actors have won more than one Oscar?

A. These stars have won two:

Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis, Luise Rainer, Frederic March, Olivia De Havilland. Walter Brennan has won three as a supporting actor.

This year Vivien Leigh, Jane Wyman or Katharine Hepburn could win their second Oscar, and March could win his third.

Q. What is the value of an academy award to a picture's gross?

A. An estimated one million dollars.

Our 39 years of combined experience and know-how in the above services is your guarantee of absolute satisfaction."

The Childs

Good Sized Rooms
Are A Feature
Of This Ranch
Style Home

Rooms Five
Bedrooms Two Closets Four
Cubage 23,400'
Dimensions 56'x30'

Measuring 56'x30', "The Childs" has a cubage of 23,400 feet. At least an 80 foot lot would be required to hold the house and attached garage. This house does not have to be placed too great a distance from the street; simple landscaping will be most suitable.

Almost any type of exterior will be equally suitable and attractive for this modified ranch house. Clapboards or shingles seem most appropriate; however, if you prefer white for the exterior color of the house add color and brightness by using blinds and colored roofing.

The long front piazza protects the front entrance which opens directly into the 18'x11'4" living room. This large, attractive room, located at the right front corner of the house, has a large picture window flanked by casement windows in the front wall plus two windows in the right wall to assure an abundance of light and ventilation.

Centered in the right wall of the room is the handsome fireplace that gives extra decorative appeal and a feeling of homely friendliness to the living room. A large open archway in the left wall leads directly to the 11'4"x9' dining room; a door in the back wall opens on the central hallway.

Arranging large furniture pieces is made easy in the dining room by the long unbroken back wall. If you'd like to save space and at the same time provide yourself with some handy storage space, build a china closet into the left back corner of the dining room.

Flanked by casement windows, the picture window in the front wall of the dining room looks out on the front piazza, provides the room with good light and air. The door in the left wall leads to the all-modern kitchen.

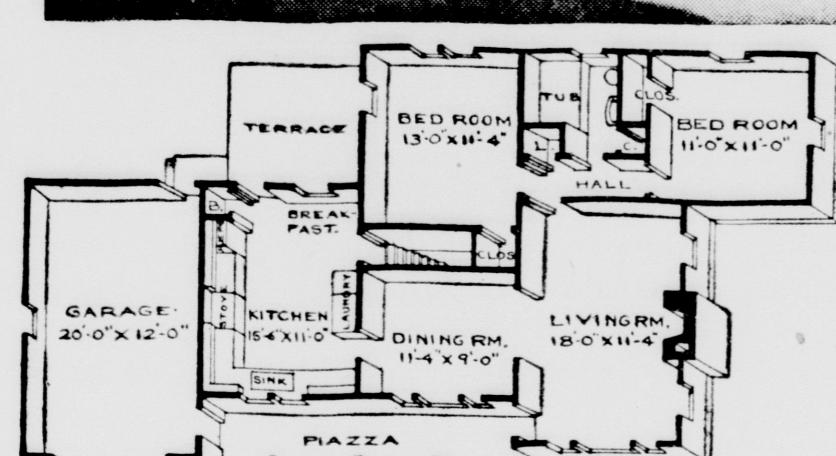

Placing the kitchen at the front of the house (as in this plan) is winning more and more favor with home builders, for such an arrangement leaves the back and quieter sections of the house free for the bedrooms. Working counters, cupboards and cabinets line the front and left walls in an L shaped array; the sink is centered against the front wall, under the double windows.

The stove is placed in the center of the line of working counters against the left kitchen wall, while the refrigerator is at the very end of this array of working counters, cupboards and cabinets. In the corner is the large broom closet.

Laundry equipment can very conveniently be placed right in the kitchen of "The Childs", against the right wall, between the door from the dining room and the stairway to the basement, is the selected location. In this roomy kitchen there's also space for a comfortable breakfast nook.

Looking out on the terrace which can be made just as attractive as you wish the one window in the back wall of the kitchen provides extra light and ventilation for the breakfast nook. The door in the back wall leads directly to the terrace.

Measuring 20'x12', the garage can be reached from the back yard, through the regular front entry or through the protected side entrance from the piazza. One window in the left wall provides ample light and ventilation.

You'll find the garage has plenty of overhead and regular storage space.

The bedrooms in "The Childs" cannot be reached directly from the kitchen; only the central hallway leading from the living room connects with the bedrooms and the bath.

Two windows in the back wall and one in the left wall provide excellent light and cross ventilation for the master bedroom. The large closet in the front wall of the 13'x11'4" room contains ample storage area for the "man and woman" of the house.

Master Bedroom

Also opening on the central hallway, between the master bedroom and the bathroom, is the linen closet. As this closet is not too large, many will wish to use it for the storage of bed linens exclusively, then use the closet in the bathroom itself as a storage place for clean towels etc.

Containing both a tub and a shower, the bathroom receives good light and ventilation from the window in the back wall. Cross ventilation and plenty of light and sunshine reach the 11 foot square bedroom through the window in the back wall of the room and the one in the right wall.

The extra large closet in the left wall can be divided in two sections so that one part can be converted into a cedar closet where the family's Winter clothes, blankets etc. can be stored.

Since the laundry equipment is installed in the kitchen of "The Childs," the heating plant is the only "must" installation in the basement. Thus, you'll have an abundance of basement area to do with as you wish.

Morris Admits Ship Deal Fees

WASHINGTON — (P) — Adm. William Smith, former head of the U. S. Maritime Commission, testified he recalls no White House assistance to Newbold Morris in ship deals now under Senate investigation.

But Smith told Senate investigators he did remember Washington lawyer Joseph E. Casey "throwing his weight around" in some of the negotiations.

Smith was before the Senate Investigation Subcommittee which is looking into how ex-Rep. Casey, Massachusetts Democrat, and a group of associates made $14 million dollars from ship deals into which they put only $101,000 of their own money.

Morris, now government corruption investigator, was drawn into the inquiry by disclosure that three oil tankers handled by Casey's group wound up (1) in the hands of a client of Morris' law firm, and (2) hauling out to Communist China.

Morris, in two days in the witness chair, denied any wrongdoing and said he had received nothing from ship deals. However, he acknowledged his gross share of his firm's legal fees from the ship transaction might be $30,000 to $35,000.

At the close of his testimony, Morris blasted what he termed the "diseased minds" of the senators investigating him.

As a result, there was some talk of citing him for contempt.

Asks Trial On Theft Charge

I. H. Kolbe, of Mackinac County, pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday morning in local justice court on a charge of taking $25 from Auto Body, of Manistique.

The complaint against Kolbe was signed by Charles Golat, Auto Body owner.

Trial was set for Thursday, March 20, and Kolbe posted a cash bond of $100 to guarantee his appearance.

In denying taking the $25, Kolbe told Justice of the Peace Victor P. Deemer that the sum represented a check he had issued to Auto Body which was returned to him because his bank account at that time had insufficient funds to cover it.

Manistique state police said Kolbe operates a commercial fishing business in the St. Ignace area.

Harris Is Given 90-Day Stretch

Robert Harris, young Manistique man charged with larceny of beer from Williams Bottling Works last November, landed in the Schoolcraft County jail this week after he failed to enlist in the armed services as he had promised local authorities.

Police nabbed him shortly after he returned to the city this week and he was sentenced to spend 90 days in jail when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Victor P. Deemer.

A charge of breaking and entering in the night time against Harris was nolle prossed at the January term of court. Authorities reported that he actually did not take part in breaking into the beer warehouse, but received some of the stolen property afterward.

Two other young men arraigned on the breaking and entering count were placed on probation.

A larceny charge against Harris based on his receipt of stolen property was held in abeyance by authorities on his promise to enlist.

Officials later learned that he went as far as Milwaukee but failed to join up with the military.

Mrs. Glen Riley, 183 River St., has returned after spending a week in Rhinelander, Wis., with relatives.

Strasler and family.

Mrs. Strasler received many gifts.

Demonstration Of Cake Decorating Will Be Presented

The lesson, which will begin at 2:30, will be presented for club leaders who in turn demonstrate to their individual groups.

Barker, a professional baker, will apply his cakes and the equipment he uses for decorating. Following the demonstration the cakes and coffee will be served to the ladies with his compliments.

DISPOSABLE DEFORMITIES

Ninety per cent of all potential cripples never would become deformed if they received the right treatment at the right time. Most deformities are not due to a predisposing cause, but to neglect of proper measures of prevention and cure.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

What happens when a top offensive team clashes with a strong defensive team? . . . The answer will be known tonight when the St. Joe Trojans tangle with the Houghton Gremlins for the Upper Peninsula Class C prep basketball championship on the big Negauene gym . . . Coach Tom St. Germain's Trojans rank among the U. P. all-time high scorers while the Gremlins of Coach John Gaffney this season have set what is believed to be a new defensive record.

The Trojans have poured 1,362 points through the hoops in 19 games this season, an average of 71.7 points per outing . . . Houghton, on the other hand, has held opponents to 725 points in 20 games, an average of 36.2 per start . . . Highest total run up against Houghton this season was the 53 points scored by Bessemer Thursday night in the opening game of the regional tournament . . . The Trojans have scored under 60 points in only three of their games this season.

Houghton has an over-all record of 17 wins, three losses this season . . . The defeats came at the hands of Bessemer 47-44, Calumet 29-25, and L'Anse 37-35 . . . The Gremlins have beaten Hancock and Lake Linden three times each, L'Anse and Baraga twice each and have single victories over Jeffers, Calumet, Dollar Bay, Marquette Baraga, Ontonagon, Sacred Heart and Bessemer.

The Houghton quint is built around four seniors with plenty of tournament experience . . . The Gremlins, district tourney winners three years in a row, have forwards Rueben Kananan and Russ Richards and guard Gary Arvo as three-year men . . . Guard Ron Wiltanen is the real veteran with four years experience . . . Spencer Carlson, pivotman, is a junior . . . Kananan and Wiltanen are co-captains . . . Kananan tops Houghton's scoring with 279 points in his regular 17-game campaign.

St. Joe enters the championship game tonight with 17 wins and two losses . . . This is their second straight march through the district and regional trail . . . Last year it ended with a one-point loss to Soo Loretto in the regional finals . . . Including tournament games, the Trojans have won their last 10 games . . . St. Joe carries two seniors on the starting lineup, forward Bill Baker and center Pete Kuteches . . . Guards John Martinac and Bob Sendenburgh are juniors and forward Dick Cass is a sophomore . . . Front-line replacement Jim Gravelle is a junior.

Free Throw In Final Seconds Costs Eskymos Victory Chance

HOUGHTON—(Special)—A successful free throw attempt by Ironwood's Frank Gregory with eight seconds remaining in the Class B regional semifinal game here last night marked the end of the tournament trail for the Escanaba Eskymos.

Gregory canned his gift toss to give Ironwood a 39-38 victory over Coach Steve Baltic's district champions. Ironwood thus won the right to face the Ishpeming Hematites in the finals tonight at 8. Ishpeming outlasted a battling Manistique quint to win 44-41.

For a while it looked like the Eskymos would post their third straight tournament victory by a one-point margin. Escanaba had a 38-37 lead with 35 seconds remaining, and the Eskymos had the ball in their offensive court.

Try Three Free Shots

But the Red Devils got control on a jump ball and moved into scoring position. Esky guard Jim Heiden fouled Jerry Korhonen at the 18-second mark and the Red Devil reserve dropped the free throw to tie it up, 38-38.

Eight seconds later Korhonen was fouled again by guard Paul Gunderman, but missed his charity toss this time. Center Paul Baldwin fouled Gregory in the scramble for the rebound and Gregory salted the win with his free throw conversion. Escanaba was unable to get the ball into scoring territory before the final whistle.

The game was exceedingly close throughout, with the lead changing hands continually. The score was knotted 15 times, nine in the hectic final period when each basket put the scoring team ahead.

Ironwood had an 8-6 edge at the end of the first period. The second period was nip and tuck with the Eskymos taking a 15-14 halftime edge on Fred Boddy's late field goal.

Late Lead

The Eskymos stretched it to 17-14 early in the third but a field goal by Pat Cvergros and two free throws by Gregory put Ironwood ahead 18-17 minutes later. Boddy connected with three field goals, Tom Smith a goal and JoJo Johnston a free throw as Escanaba fought back to lead 27-25 going into the final period.

Ironwood had a 14-11 scoring edge in the fourth quarter. Boddy stole the ball with 3:15 remaining on the clock to put the Eskymos ahead 36-35 but Ray Nienti landed a long set shot to give Ironwood a 37-36 advantage.

With a minute and a half left Gunderman spun in a lay-up to put Escanaba back in front, 38-37. The Eskymos turned down a free throw to take the ball out of bounds with 35 seconds remaining, but couldn't hang on. Smith was tied up by Cvergros and the tip went to Korhonen. The foul by Heiden followed and the score was knotted with 18 seconds left.

Emeralds Threaten

Turning down free throws, except on double shots in which they took only the first, the Emeralds of Coach Bob Hussey threw a scare into the Hematites before bowing out in the final three minutes.

Ishpeming fell behind in the opening minutes and trailed 14-9 at the end of the first period.

Both teams made eight points in the third period to move into the finale with Ishpeming leading 35-33.

The Emeralds never got their lead back in the final period, but stayed within two points until Thompson hooped a lay-up to put Ishpeming ahead 43-39. Francis Ekdahl dropped in a field goal for Manistique and Bob Sharland hit a free throw for Ishpeming in the final half-minute.

Superior rebounding gave Ishpeming its playing edge throughout the game. Thompson took scoring honors with 18 points.

Class C high schools has been whittled down to the last two, who will match baskets for the U. P. title tonight at the Memorial gymnasium in Negaunee.

With the regional crown will go the right to represent Upper Michigan in the state quarter-final tournament games which will be conducted next Wednesday at Lower Michigan cities.

In the championship battle tonight, St. Joseph's Trojans take on the Houghton Gremlins. Opening tipoff will be at 8:30 and a capacity house is expected to swell the new Negaunee gym, being used for the first time this season.

Tough Trials

St. Joe and Houghton trod rough tournament trails to get to the big plum. Coach Tom St. Germain's St. Joe eagles had their toughest test in the district championship clash in which they came back in the late stages of the game to defeat Norway 65-61 on the Viking floor.

The Gremlins of Coach John Gaffney also had a close one in the district title game, winning 36-33 over L'Anse. But Thursday night the Houghton team had an even closer call, winning 57-53 over Bessemer in overtime in the opening regional clash.

The two teams enter the championship game tonight with nearly identical won-lost records. The Trojans have 17 victories and two defeats while the Gremlins have 17 wins and three losses.

Exact Opposites

But there the similarity ends. St. Joe is one of the highest scoring quints in the state with an average of 71.7 points per game. The Houghton offense is not so high-powered, but the Gremlins have the best defensive record in the U. P., with opponents averaging only 36.2 points per game.

Leading the Trojans in scoring is center Pete Kutchess who threatens to set an all-time U. P. scoring record tonight. Kutchess has scored 555 points this season and needs 13 against Houghton to top the present record of 567 set this season by towering Norbert Purlo of Ironwood St. Ambrose. Kutchess finished his regular season with an average of 29.6 points, a new Peninsula record. In three tournament games he has scored 82 points and his over-all average in 18 games is 29.2.

Starting Lineups

Coach St. Germain, whose Trojans are in the U. P. finals for the second straight season, will stick with his regular starters tonight. That means Bill Baker and Dick Cass at forwards, Kutchess at center, John Martin and Bob Sedenburgh at guards.

In reserve will be Jim Gravelle, Jim Zimmerman, Bill Maycunich, Tom Brien, David Hirn, Don LeGault and Jerry McDonough.

Starting for the Gremlins will be Rueben Kananan and Russ Richards at forwards, Spencer Carlson at center, Gary Arvo and Ron Wittenan at guards. Reserves available will be Ralph Hurley, a freshman, James Elapao, Mario Caramella, Bob Lean, Paul Tepso and Ken Usitalo.

Five pitchers on the Detroit Tigers roster were born in the city of Detroit.

Trucks Looks Good As Tigers Win 7-5

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP)—What happened to pitcher Freddie Hutchinson?

Rumors that the American League's best control artist no longer plays for the Detroit Tigers are untrue.

Granted that the 32-year-old righthander hasn't pitched a single inning in the exhibition season.

But that's only because Fred still feels a little stiff in his shoulder and Manager Red Rolfe wants to allow him plenty of time.

Rolfe has been giving his rookie pitchers plenty of chance and using only the veterans in top shape.

Trucks Fast

Yesterday he pitched Virgil Trucks, the most progressed of his veterans, Paul Foytack, a rookie who has only an outside chance of sticking this spring, and Lynn Lovenguth, a promising rookie.

Trucks showed blazing speed after the Boston Red Sox touched him for three hits and one run in the opening inning at Sarasota. He gave up one hit in the remaining four innings he hurled.

Rolfe planned to pitch rookie Dick Marlowe, Wayne McLeland, and possibly Al Yaylian against the Cincinnati Reds at Lakeland today.

Training Camp Briefs

PITCHERS "DEMOTED"

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Pitchers Preacher Roe, Ralph Branca and Carl Erskine have been "demoted" to the Brooklyn Dodgers' minor league training camp at Vero Beach.

"I know what these fellows can do," Manager Chuck Dressen said today. "I don't have to watch them pitch. It's more important that they get work. So each of them will go six innings against Montreal or St. Paul on the days that the rest of the squad is playing exhibitions.

Second BASE TRIAL

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants plans to give Negro infielder Hank Thompson another chance at second base.

Thompson, who has played third base and the outfield in recent years, had a whirl at second in 1948 without much success.

WILL USE VETS

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau of Boston's Red Sox plans to use most of his regulars against the Boston Braves here today in an effort to snap a six-game losing string of exhibition contests.

Boudreau has been using plenty of youngsters so far to get a line on them in game action.

FINAL HOLDOUT

BRADENTON, Fla.—(AP)—The feeling here is that Bob Elliott, veteran third baseman and the Boston Braves' final holdout, will wind up with another National League club, probably the Dodgers or Giants.

RAIN HURTS

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox, washed out last night in a scheduled game with the Solons, have been able to play only 23 innings thus far in the exhibition campaign.

"Most of the good we accomplished with our pitchers during the 10 days of early training at El Centro already has been nullified," said Manager Paul Richards. "We'll have to start playing games or we just will not be in condition to start the season."

PLAN FAILS

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs' first attempt to use only two pitchers per game backfired. John Klippstein and Joe Hatten were scheduled to go the route against the Los Angeles Angels yesterday but had to be rescued by Luvern Fear and Bob Schultz. The Cubs eventually defeated their cousins, 12-7.

EASIER ON GARCIA

OAKLAND, Calif.—(AP)—Manager

Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians claims big Mike Garcia needed the extra work he got in relief roles last season, but this year he plans to go easier on the speedy righthander.

Garcia, who worked in 17 relief sessions, was "sharper" when he spent more time in the bullpen, Lopez said.

Lopez tries not to use his starters in relief at all.

ON THE SPOT

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP)—Sometimes a pitcher can be put on the spot even before play-for-keeps begins, and Eddie Eraut of the Cincinnati Reds appears to be in that uncomfortable position right now.

The lanky Oregon righthander is slated to work the first four or five innings against the Detroit Tigers here in today's exhibition game, and Manager Luke Sewell probably will be watching his every pitch.

Eraut, 27, has compiled a poor 8-13 record with the Reds during the past three years. He didn't figure in a decision last season, although he pitched 39 innings.

If the one-time strikeout king of the Pacific Coast League doesn't show strong promise, the Reds probably will take him off the roster to make room for some youngster who does.

GOOD AT SHORT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Red Schoendienst had an auspicious start in his debut at shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday. He banged out two doubles and handled six chances, including the pivot spot in a pair of doubleplays.

ATTENTION

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—Jimmy Dykes says its mere coincidence that the Philadelphia Athletics happen to have three of their best pitchers primed to face their intra-city rivals Sunday at the Phillies camp in Clearwater, Fla.

Dykes has named Carl Scheib, Bobby Shantz, and Bob Hooper to take three-inning turns against the Phillies.

EARLY TROUBLE

ORLANDO, Fla.—(AP)—Bob Porterfield's disappointing debut for 1952 was Washington Manager Bucky Harris chewing his lip over the Senators' pitcher situation.

Yesterday's exhibition with the St. Louis Cardinals, which ended 6-6, Porterfield was in trouble during each of his three innings. Harris rates Porterfield his only dependable hurler.

Vandals Too Accurate With Their Slingshots

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Sling-shot vandals are getting entirely too accurate in their aim.

They started considerable havoc in the Inglewood and Lennox areas earlier this week by shooting glass marbles through windows of business establishments and residences.

One night a vandal from a moving automobile shot a quart of oil out of the hands of a service station attendant, David R. Oren, 20, said he was wiping off the bottle when he heard a z-i-n-g, and felt the glass crash in his hand.

Tassoula said she had never really loved him. Kephalyannis said he was relieved she was gone.

"I only feel sorry," he said, "for having loved so much a woman without heart, without feelings—a selfish creature."

Housewives will be cooking on glass in the future as the result of development of a new infrared stove lamp that can be fitted into the standard space on electric stoves.

Taft Winds Up Western Swing

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (P)—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio turned back east today after finishing his western campaign swing with a blistering attack on the Truman administration.

"Truman wants a police state," the Ohioan, who is seeking the GOP presidential nomination, told an audience of some 1,500 here last night. "He wants to tell every businessman and farmer what to do."

Taft spoke at a $10-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner last night. He hammered away at the administration's foreign policy and corruption in government.

The senator, hoarse and apparently tired after his active southwestern tour, said in discussing corruption:

"The President is not prepared to institute any cleanup campaign." He is trying to obscure the situation in hopes the people will forget."

Taft contended the nation's foreign policy should be restored to a basis "of maintaining the liberty of our people and maintaining the peace of our people."

"That means that we should undertake no war unless that liberty is threatened."

Friends Are Bookies

King called off this phase of the subcommittee's delving until next Wednesday. Striking out for higher ground, the group has called former top officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau for closed-door questioning starting Tuesday.

Paul Hofrichter, clerk in the Brooklyn tax office, was yesterday's most spectacular witness. Luck at gambling, he testified in his Brooklyn accent, was the reason he could spend $18,350 a year on a $3,500 salary.

"All my friends are bookies," said Hofrichter, a mild-mannered man who has worked 23 years for the Revenue Bureau.

The best friend of all, he added, was a bookie named "Packy." He explained that he and Packy had an arrangement: Packy tipped him on "hot horses" worth at least $7,500 winnings in 1951. In return, he doled the prize fights for Packy.

ence far beyond its actual members."

The statement added:

"The evidence presented to the International Executive Board proves beyond any doubt that this disciplined Communist minority was able to subvert the policies, programs and publications of Local 600 to their own ends and against the best interests of the union membership."

The executive board action came after witnesses at recent hearings of the House Un-American Activities Committee here named several Local 600 officials as Communists.

Stellato changed his mind today about resisting the executive board's action, but said he would appeal the decision to the next International UAW convention of May of 1953.

Reuther said it was the purge board's intention to remove as few as possible of the elected officers and those holding appointive jobs. All of them, however, are subject to removal at any time if the board desires. No actual firing or suspending of anybody, however, has yet been taken.

Feuding For Year

Stellato formerly was a close political ally of Reuther, who had supported him for the Local 600 presidency. But the two broke more than a year ago over policy differences and have feuded sharply since then.

The UAW board said its "unanimous action" setting up the board of administration came "in the light of the overwhelming evidence" after officers of Local 600 had been given "full opportunity to present their case."

"This action was necessary in order to prevent further damage to the union and its membership," the union statement said.

World's Largest

Local 600, with nearly 50,000 dues-paying members, claims to be the world's largest local union.

"It is regrettable that a major portion of the strength and energy of Local 600 has been dissipated because of the disruptive efforts of a small Communist minority to advance the interests of the Communist party at the expense of the Ford Workers," the executive board declared.

"They have been more interested in fighting the International Union and its policies than in solving the day to day problems of the Ford workers."

"The underlying and motivating drive behind the Communist group in Local 600, as elsewhere, is complete subservience to the foreign policy needs of the Soviet Union."

Election To Follow

The new board of administration, besides Reuther, includes UAW secretary-treasurer Emil Mazey, vice presidents John W. Livingston and Richard Gosser, and west side regional co-directors Joseph McCusker and Edward J. Crotty.

Ouster of the local's officers would have to be followed by an election within 60 days. It would be theoretically possible for Stellato and his officers to run in this election and be restored to office by the local members.

During yesterday's hearing, the first witness was David Averill, fired editor of Ford Facts, Local 600 newspaper. Averill, who had testified before the House committee on Wednesday, was fired the following day by Stellato.

Averill repeated much of his previous testimony to the committee that Communists controlled the newspaper as a propaganda outlet. In firing Averill, Stellato said the editor knew his testimony was "a figment of his imagination."

Measles Epidemic Still On Upswing

LANSING — (P)—Michigan measles epidemic continues on the upswing, the State Health Department reported.

The department said the number of cases reported had topped 1,400 a week during the past two weeks.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of the Division of Disease Control, predicted that the epidemic would reach its peak some time around the last week in March or the first week in April.

He said the current epidemic is spreading across the state from west to east whereas in 1950, the last "measles year," it spread from east to west.

Dr. Leeder emphasized that parents should be on the alert to learn the date of exposure of children under six years of age and older children who are not well.

"Measles is a serious disease in children under six and most dangerous to children under three and to a child who is suffering from some other disease or recuperating from a recent illness," Dr. Leeder said.

Noack identified Myers as the writer of a mysterious letter to LCC chairman George Burke Jr.

Noack said Myers admitted writing the letter, postmarked Feb. 15th, which told Burke:

weakening of our local taxing power.

We Did It

We, the people, passed a constitutional amendment which put all our gasoline and car license taxes into one pot and said "that money can't be used for anything but roads."

We, the people, passed a constitutional amendment to force civil service on state government. And part of the amendment said the civil service commission can give state employees a pay raise any time it feels like it, no matter whether the treasury can stand it or whether there is any money appropriated to meet the increases.

We, the people, then found that we had hamstrung our local schools and local governments so they didn't have enough cash to give us the things we wanted. So we passed the sales tax diversion amendment to take away most of the state's major source of income.

We, the people, know that we are paying too heavy taxes but every time the legislature or congress proposes to eliminate some governmental service we descend on the capitol and scream "we need that!"

We, the people, know that we are paying too heavy taxes but every time somebody proposes to rewrite our 44-year-old constitution to modernize our government and use our taxes more efficiently we say "no."

We, the people, are bankrupting our state government in our wisdom.

EAST LANSING — (P)—Michigan hospitals need one third more of all kinds of workers than they now have on hand, a meeting of the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries was told here yesterday.

Speaker before the group, which met to plan a hospital help recruiting drive, was Dr. Kenneth Babcock, president-elect of the Michigan Hospital Association and director of Detroit's Grace Hospital.

"The rapid technical growth of the medical century has caught most of our hospitals unprepared, especially in the last decade," Dr. Babcock said. "If workers can't be recruited we will be faced with either lowering the quality of care or eliminating hospital beds."
